APRON ASSEMBLY

1. Bind (1) straight edge of the Pocket piece using double-fold bias tape and sewing with the narrow side on top. Trim the bias tape even with the ends of the Pocket piece.

2. Layer (1) Pocket piece right side up on the bottom of (1) Apron Front piece and align edges (trim Apron Front or Pocket piece if necessary). Pin in place. Sew the pieces together around the sides and bottom using a $\frac{1}{8}$ " seam allowance. Leave the top of the Pocket piece open. If you would like a divider in your pocket, topstitch down the center to form a divided pocket instead of one large pocket, backstitching at the beginning and the end.

3. Layer the Apron Front piece and Apron Back piece with RST. Pin in place. Sew together along each shoulder seam using a $\frac{1}{4}$ " seam allowance. Zigzag or serge the seams to prevent fraying.

4. Bind the neck opening using double-fold bias tape and sewing with the narrow side on top, starting and stopping at the back of the neck. When reaching the end of the neck opening, trim the binding slightly longer than the opening. Open the end of the bias tape, then fold the end of the bias tape under and overlap the start of the binding slightly for a nice finish.

5. Cut (4) 12"-long pieces of double-fold bias tape to use for ties. On each, open (1) short edge and fold under $\frac{1}{4}$ ". Press. Next, close bias tape and topstitch along the long edge and folded short edge. Position the ties onto the apron sides on the front and back approximately 12" from the bottom. Align raw edges and pin ties so that they are facing inside the apron.

6. Bind all outside edges of the apron using double-fold bias tape and sewing with the narrow side on top, starting on the back where one of the ties is pinned. While binding, be sure to catch the edges of the ties. When reaching the end of the apron binding, trim the binding slightly longer than the edges. Open the end of the bias tape, then fold the end under and overlap the start of the binding slightly for a nice finish.

7. Tie on your apron and enjoy!

8. Use the bonus quilt block to make a place mat, mug rug, pot holder or other decoration for your kitchen. Use the Baked With Love label to embellish a tea towel, bake ware carrier, or a handmade gift bag.
