Zipper Pouch Instructions

Additional Supplies Needed:

- (1) 16" zipper for the large pouch (required)
- (1) 14" x 17" rectangle of medium-weight interfacing or fusible fleece (recommended)

1. Cut the outer and lining pieces out along the dashed lines. If using interfacing or fusible fleece, follow the manufacturer's instructions to apply the product to the wrong side of the lining pieces.
2. Snip small cuts on the long edges of the zipper tape. Be sure to keep the cuts small and away from the zipper teeth.
3. Align the center of the zipper with the center of a curved side of the pouch. The top side of the zipper should be against the outside of the pouch. Pin the zipper in place, then use your zipper foot to sew the zipper in place. Unzip the zipper, then repeat to sew the other half of the zipper to the other curved edge of the pouch.
4. Place the lining on top, right sides together with the outer fabric, sandwiching the zipper between the layers of fabric. Sew along the curved edges.
5. Zip the pouch partway closed. Fold the pouch so the straight edges are aligned with the zipper centered on the middle of the pouch. Sew across the straight edges, then trim the excess zipper. Finish the edge with a zigzag stitch or binding if desired. Repeat to box the second end of the pouch.
6. Turn right side out and enjoy!
